Touch People

Sunday April 5, 2009, 10.30 pm. It was a quiet Sunday evening in L'Aquila an old medieval city just 120 kilometres north-east of Rome. That evening, ten kilometers below the Abruzzi countryside, the Eurasian and African plates of the earth's crust were jolting past each other. The mighty force of these shifting tectonic plates caused an earthquake measuring 6.3 on the Richter scale, so strong it could be felt as far away as Britian. L'Aquila and the surrounding villages lay in ruins 300 people had lost their lives, the injured numbered close to 2000 and a further 30,000 people were left homeless. The word tectonic comes from the Greek "tekton" which means "builder". Throughout history and before, piece by piece, earthquakes have been building the landscape we love and cherish. In society and church too there are shifts seemingly as enormous as shifting tectonic plates. These movements within the social fabric of human existence bring down routine ways of seeing the world. They pull the mat out from under the feet of centuries of presumptions; and leave millions of people feeling disorientated and at a loss – with no place to lay their heads or rest their hearts. But these large shifts within society, religion and culture are not all bad news. They are part of the building of something new. They provoke new freedom and creativity – especially for the followers of Jesus in their work for a more just, loving and connected world. If you are reading this bulletin today, you have been living through once of these large historical shifts. You have felt the culture you grew up in moving away from you. Even the Church, once so familiar, has changed its shape. The human landscape has changed. In the 6th century BC the people of Judah were suffering much at the hands of the Edomites, the new bullies on the block. The prophetic writer of today's first reading warned Edom that God would stand with his people. He then went on to list the blessings that God would bring to his people in spite of the oppressive times. "The eyes of the blind will be opened and the ears of the deaf unsealed, the lame will leap like a deer and the tongue of the dumb sing for joy" (Isaiah 35.5). Just as the people of Judah survived, so will the followers of Christ today. But today's liturgy invites us to something greater than survival. It seeks to give us new heart and all we need for a fresh start. The challenges that today come from the tectonic movements within society, culture and religion, are paving the way to the Church of the future. The followers of Jesus must continue on their way, even in disturbed times. Jesus fulfilled the prophet's promise by reaching out, touching the deaf man and healing him (see Mark 7:33). The church today is called to do likewise – leave the old behind, step out onto the shifting plates of the present age and to make contact with people, especially the poor. The rest we leave up to God. Finally, to all fathers and grandfathers – a happy Father's Day.

PARISH WEBSITE.....DO YOU HAVE ANY PHOTOS????

A committee has been formed to maintain and improve the parish website. Since the site was launched we have had over five and a half thousand visits.

The first project this committee will be undertaking is to improve the photo gallery on the site. We are looking for any photos taken by parishioners around the parish from the very beginning in 1970 up to current events. If you have any photos that we can borrow kindly drop them into the parish office (house) in an envelope with your name, address and contact number. We will then scan these photos and select the best photos to go onto the website. Alternatively, if you have any digital (soft copy) photos please email them directly to jeff@mccrackenlegal.com.

If you have facilities (scanner) at home and are able to scan photos for us or if you would like to join this group please contact Jeff Tanti on 9670 9661 or 0416 006 720.

WHAT MAKES A DAD

God took the strength of a mountain,
The majesty of a tree,
The warmth of a summer sun,
The calm of a quiet sea,
The generous soul of nature,
The comforting arm of night,
The wisdom of the ages,
The power of the eagle's flight,
The joy of a morning in spring,
The faith of a mustard seed,
The patience of eternity,
The depth of a family need,
Then God combined these qualities,
When there was nothing more to add,
He knew his masterpiece was complete,
And so, he called it....Dad Author Unknown
